I will hold others accountable for their actions as well.

I will honor those I serve with, those who have gone before me, and those who will come after me.

I am a Patriot, a Leader, and a Wingman devoted to those I follow, serve, and lead.

I am an Air Force Junior ROTC Cadet.
The Mission and Goals of the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps

Mission
Develop Citizens of Character Dedicated to Serving Their Nation and Community

Goals
Instill Values of Citizenship, Service to the United States, Personal Responsibility, and a Sense of Accomplishment

ADMISSION STANDARDS
Eligibility for admission into the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFJROTC) program is determined by the Jeanne M. Holm Center for Officer Accesions and Citizen Development in accordance with AFJROTC Instruction 36-2001. The goal is a proportionate representation of the entire student body. To be eligible to participate and continue in AFJROTC, students must be:

- Enrolled in and attending a regular course of instruction in the school.
- Selected by the AFJROTC instructor in coordination with the principal (or a designated representative) to ensure enrolled students meet acceptable standards.
- In grades 9 through 12.
- Physically fit. Students must be qualified, approved, or capable to participate in the school’s standard physical education program.
- Disenrollment. As a rule, disenrollment from AFJROTC is approved by the principal in coordination with the AFJROTC instructors and counselors. Disenrollment should be a last resort, preceded by substantiated documentation and corrective counseling, to maintain the morale and discipline of the unit. A cadet may be disenrolled from AFJROTC for:
  - Failure to maintain acceptable standards (including uniform wear and grooming)
  - Inaptitude or indifference to training
  - Disciplinary reasons
  - Any other reason deemed appropriate by the principal and AFJROTC instructors

There is no military service obligation for participating in AFJROTC.

AFJROTC cadets have an opportunity to earn scholarships.

AFJROTC cadets may have an advantage when competing for appointments to the U.S. Air Force Academy and the other service academies.

Cadets who complete 3 years of JROTC and enlist in the military may qualify for higher pay.
Welcome to the Harry S. Truman Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training program (AFJROTC). You have accepted a challenge unlike any other offered in high school. As a member of New York-20011, we expect you to exceed the standards of the average high school student, to follow, to lead, and to learn. Our mission is to "Develop citizens of character dedicated to serving their nation and community." The objectives of AFJROTC are to "Educate and train high school cadets in citizenship, promote community service, instill responsibility, character, and self-discipline, and provide instruction in air and space fundamentals." The program is grounded in the Air Force core values of integrity first, service before self, and excellence in all we do.

Your classes will present you with exciting opportunities to learn about aerospace science, leadership, and life skills such as time management, human relations, and public speaking techniques.

Curriculum opportunities include:

Academic studies

- Character education
- Life skills education
- Leadership opportunities
- Team-building experiences
- Field trips / training opportunities

Academic achievement is necessary for all students in order to succeed in high school and beyond. A well-rounded education helps develop curiosity and creativity, critical thinking and increases your chances for success in your future endeavors. Class discussion, readings, homework, study hall and promotions teach and encourage academic achievement. In addition, you will explore and learn to carry out the traditions, customs, and courtesies practiced in NY-20011 and the Air Force. Finally, the extracurricular activities such as the military ball, dining out, color guard, and drill teams will give you the opportunity to put to practical use the skills you learn in the classroom.
The program will allow you to see, do, and learn things you have never even imagined possible. Through this you will learn the principle: Revelation (i.e., being told something) is the infantile route to knowledge. Experience is the mature route. In time, you will be able to see the invisible, touch the intangible, and accomplish the impossible.

As you can see, we have much to offer. The above-mentioned activities only scratch the surface. As you progress in the program, we will ask and expect more of you. You will find yourself spending less time following and more time leading. This program can take you as far as you desire to go. As with anything, you get out of the program what you are willing to put into it. NY-20011 is looking for a few dedicated cadets. You have taken the initiative to join, which shows you are willing to take on the challenge and we congratulate you for your courage. Now prepare to excel and achieve!

Character Development

Responsibility is a character trait that shows people and ourselves that we can be trusted to perform a job, do a task, be there for others, and regularly contribute to school and society. This is accomplished by homework, job performance, punctuality, briefings, and meeting deadlines.

Service is an important concept, which we all must be familiar with. It means doing for others. Most of us gain a great deal through service to others. When we "serve" other people we build a stronger community and we are often paid back through good feelings and reciprocal service. Service includes parades, fund-raising, canned food and toy drives, community service, after-school assistance and job performance.

Teamwork means working with others. There are leaders and followers and all must work together. The whole is greater than the sum of the parts means that the contributions of each member make the group more efficient than all working alone. This is accomplished by job performance, marching in formation, group projects, and group activities.

Core values are necessary to the existence of a better and more productive society. Our honor code mentions honesty and integrity, but there is much more. Treating all others with the same respect we desire, actively listening to others, and entering into all "relationships" without prejudice are examples of core values. This is accomplished through education and practice.

Self-discipline means controlling our own lives. Within certain constraints we are all given free choice to make decisions. We must learn how to make the most effective decisions in order to control our lives and how we live them. This can mean behaving in school, choosing to do homework instead of watching TV or something much more significant. Learning self-discipline now will be rewarded for the rest of your lifetime. Every facet of AFJROTC is practice in self-discipline.
Lastly, excellence in all we do is necessary to lead a productive life and build an enjoyable society.
"Good enough" is not usually good enough! We must always strive to do better and improve wherever we can. Look for ways to improve, even if things seem to working well. Always do the best you can, not just good enough. This will lead you to greater heights and achievements. Excellence is a goal of every aspect of this program.

Cadet Corps Honor Code

"I Will Not Lie, Steal Or Cheat, Nor Tolerate Among Us Anyone Who Does."

This Honor Code is a minimum standard of ethical behavior for cadets and is to be embraced by each cadet -- an internal self-enforcement mechanism. Cadets, who have the intent to lie, cheat or steal and commit any act because of that intent, may have violated the Honor Code. Also, the fact that they fail in their attempt to lie, steal, or cheat does not exonerate them. The Honor Code serves as a foundation upon which each cadet can build a personal concept of professional ethics and a life-long sense of honesty and integrity.

When you commit yourself to AFJROTC, you will be entering into a program that prepares you for a leadership role in whatever profession you choose. The high standards of integrity that employers expect are developed during your cadet years. Naturally, a high sense of honor is important in all professions, but it is necessary in the character of a Southern Regional Cadet Corps member.

It is impossible to list all the ways the honor code applies to your daily lives. As a member of the Cadet Corps team, you will appreciate the feeling of mutual trust and respect that comes from living with the code. To ensure that you have a basic understanding of the code, here is a brief description of its terms:

1. To lie is to make a false statement or convey a false impression with deliberate intent to deceive. We're not talking about innocent "white lies" here but serious misstatements of some consequence; for example, misstating to a cadet officer the reason for missing a meeting. Of course, lying to an instructor is doubly serious.

2. To steal is to take the property of another or others without permission or right, especially secretly or by force, with the intent to deprive the other of the property. Examples would be taking another person's pen or jacket which he left behind, or taking a uniform item from the unit supply room. The offense of shoplifting off campus is punishable under this code.

3. To cheat is to obtain an unfair advantage or profit to oneself by deception or fraudulent means. The obvious example in the academic environment is cheating on a test or other schoolwork, but it also includes cheating at games or sports, etc.

4. To tolerate is to allow or permit another's act or behavior without attempting to hinder or prohibit it. Each cadet is morally obligated to uphold the standards set by the honor code. The honor code belongs to each cadet, and each cadet must be its guardian. To allow other cadets to lower the integrity of the unit is to tolerate. You are not expected to "spy" on another cadet; however, a cadet who becomes aware of a possible violation by a fellow cadet should demonstrate leadership and take appropriate action. It is not easy to confront or report another cadet for an honor violation, but you have a loyalty to the unit that must come before your loyalty to an individual who would tear down the high standards of the unit. Remember, our profession requires moral courage just as much as it requires physical courage.

When an honor code violation is reported to a cadet officer or instructor, the Honor Board will determine the facts and make recommendations to the Senior Aerospace instructor (SASI) for possible disciplinary action. This may result in detentions, temporary or permanent loss of rank and/or position, and/or other appropriate action. In all proceedings, every possible step is taken to protect the rights of the accused cadet. The Honor Board will take no action without the approval of the SASI. The Honor Board is not a police force; they are only appointed to administer the code. Each cadet must have the moral courage to support the code and report violations of it.

Core Values

Integrity, service, and excellence -- These simple words epitomize the core values of our cadet corps. The foundation is integrity, fortified by a commitment to the service of our school, community, and country, and fueled by a drive in excellence in all that we do. The New Jersey-931st recognizes integrity first, service before self, and excellence as its core values. These are values every member must believe in, and more importantly, live by.

Integrity First

An unfaltering devotion to honesty, truthfulness, doing one's duty, and doing what is right

We start with integrity because it is the essential element or the foundation on which other values are built. It is that inner voice that gives one the courage to uphold educational and organizational standards by using professional judgment to do what's right. It's being honest with others as well as with you, and doing what's right at all times. Integrity remains the very bedrock of our corps. Cadets possessing integrity will always do what's right, regardless of the circumstances, even when no one is looking. They will make no compromise in being honest in small things as well as great ones. Integrity also covers several other moral traits indispensable to national service. These traits include: Courage, Honesty, Responsibility, Accountability, Justice, Openness, Self-Respect, and Humility.

Service Before Self

The giving of self to provide for the welfare of others

Next is our AFJROTC service -- an uncommon undertaking -- that calls for people with an enduring commitment and dedication to the mission and service to others before self. Each member must realize his or her needs are secondary to the needs of our unit, school, community and country. It is the willingness to sacrifice one's personal agenda for the betterment of the organization.
Excellence In All We Do

Unusually Good Quality; Being Better than Others

This brings us to excellence, our third core value. This encompasses many things, among which is the care of the resources of our unit, school, community, and nation. It involves the commitment to continuously improve competence, and tenacity -- to make it happen. This makes competence or excellence in all things we do paramount. Doing the very best you can is not just a professional obligation, it’s a moral one as well.

Integrity first, service before self, and excellence in all things we do. These core values serve as our road map and set the standard for our behavior. They serve to remind us of the importance of the commitment we have chosen, the honor code that we took, and the demands placed upon us as members of the most professional cadet corps in JROTC. Learn these lessons well. They will serve you well in your JROTC career and your personal life.

These are the guidelines that we strive towards to make AFJROTC a profitable experience. Some of you will achieve all of these goals, some will not. The key is how hard you try. The goals are set up for classroom, school, family, and community. They are not difficult and all cadets can accomplish some or all of them through their time in the program. All you require is willingness and effort. Your instructors can guide, teach, and lead, but you must be willing to do the work to become better. Please join us in this quest.

What Air Force JROTC Expects From You

Throughout the AFJROTC program, there are certain attitudes and traits we expect:

- Respect for authority, the flag of the United States, your parents or guardians, and yourself.
- Habits of orderliness and precision.
- You will learn to work with others.
- You will learn to possess a high degree of personal honor and integrity.
- You will learn how to handle responsibility.
- You are expected to graduate from high school on time!
- We also expect you to meet certain guidelines. In order to clarify this, we have a code of conduct, including the AFJROTC Honor Code.

Cadet Code of Conduct: As a cadet at Harry S. Truman High School, I will live by this cadet code of conduct. I will

- Respect and follow the directions of my parents, school officials and staff, teachers and community leaders
- Maintain acceptable grooming standards and wear the uniform of a JROTC cadet when and as required.
- Show respect for the AFJROTC uniform and keep it in good condition.
Show respect for the authority and higher rank of other cadets
Apply myself to the best of my ability in academics, JROTC classes and athletics
Be honest at all times
Be non-prejudicial in my treatment of others.
Treat all others with respect. I will do my best to maintain my self-respect and my self-control.
Show courtesy toward others in my conduct and speech.
Be a role model for other students of Harry S. Truman High School and for my community.
Public display of affection (PDA) will not be tolerated at any time when in uniform, or when participating in any AFJROTC event out of uniform. PDA consists of groping, kissing, holding hands, etc. Any and all displays of affection can be detrimental to the morale and welfare of the corps and can create the perception of favoritism.
When the Principal or military officer of senior rank to the personnel present in the room enters or leaves the room, the room is called to attention. The occupants of the room remain at attention until ordered otherwise in accordance with military regulations.
When a cadet officer or NCO superior to you gives an order, it can be considered to be an order from the Commander. You have the right to disagree and present your ideas, but all lawful orders should be followed. Cadets who feel they are not being treated fairly should see their flight commander, and if necessary take it up the chain of command.

These are tough standards but you can live up to them if you try. All you need is the desire to succeed. Although other students may not be expected to live up to standards this strict, you are not just another student. You are a cadet and we are asking you to be a little better and a little more mature than most other students who are not members of AFJROTC.

JROTC Grading Policy

The grading policy is based on a combination of academic work, citizenship, and Air Force guidelines. The breakdown of your grade is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Homework</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exams</td>
<td>25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Participation</td>
<td>25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Uniform Inspection</td>
<td>30%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The components of grading are:

a. Instructors will occasionally give tests and quizzes. Tests will be announced in advance. Quizzes may not be. Tests and quizzes will be based on class work, texts, cadet guides, handbooks, and assignments.
b. The Air Force, which establishes and maintains the AFJROTC program in high schools, sets certain standards. One standard is “cadets will wear the prescribed AFJROTC uniform at least one day per week.” In addition, “the fitting standards, wear instructions, and personal grooming standards prescribed” in Air Force Instructions will apply. These standards are included in your Cadet Guide. Failure to wear the uniform on assigned days and/or failure to wear the uniform according to Air Force standards is cause for a failing grade, and removal from the AFJROTC program.

c. Classwork/Participation includes leadership skills, class participation, behavior within class, and following school and AFJROTC rules.

d. Homework is assigned periodically. It is important to turn in your homework on time. Homework will only be accepted late due to an excused absence.

Academic Standards

We expect cadets to attend school regularly and work hard in class as well as in other endeavors. Cadets who attend school regularly, and work hard in class have respect for themselves and generally do better than others. These are the cadets we need to run a successful cadet corps. MORE IMPORTANTLY, THIS IS WHAT YOU NEED TO DO TO GRADUATE.

Attendance

Attendance is a very important part of school and AFJROTC. We expect students to be in school and to attend each class unless it is unavoidable to do so. We also expect an absence note when a student misses class. Excessive absence will result in failure since you will be missing class work, tests, and homework.

Students without notes will be considered “unexcused. Unexcused students will not be able to make up homework or tests. Lateness is defined as arriving after your name has been called during attendance.

Reserve Cadet Participation

Although not routine, there are occasions where cadets are placed in reserve status by token of being unable to actively participate or course conflicts keeping them from being enrolled in an available JROTC class. Under these circumstances, cadets are placed in “reserve” status, allowing them to attain credit towards JROTC participation. These students will not be given credit for attending the class as normal (enrolled) students are, but can continue to contribute to the program, work towards rank and/or position upgrades, participate in community service, and co-curricular activities provided that reserve participation does not conflict with their other responsibilities as high school students. Reserve cadets can wear their uniforms during their participation in community service, JROTC competitions/performances, and other activities as deemed appropriate by the SASI or ASI.
Prohibition on Physical Discipline and Hazing

Any form of hazing, whether verbal or physical will not be tolerated within our unit. Requiring cadets to perform any physical action as a reprimand, punishment, or for failure to perform, is prohibited.

Examples of prohibited physical activities include, but are not limited to pushups, running laps, or any inappropriate physical contact such as shoving, pulling or grabbing.

Any form of verbal abuse, teasing, public rebuke or any attempt to otherwise humiliate a cadet is prohibited.

Secret societies or private clubs are prohibited as part of the AFJROTC program.
AFJROTC Classroom Assertive Discipline Plan and Classroom Procedures

Cadets may walk around the classroom to read the bulletin board, the "Do Now" assignment, and converse with other cadets until the late bell rings. When the late bell rings, all cadets must assume their appropriate positions. (Students are considered tardy if not standing at their seats at Parade Rest when the late bell rings.)

- Cadets take their jackets off and hang them on the back of their chair. Book bags are removed and placed on the floor. Cadets assume the position of Parade Rest behind their chairs.
- The Flight Sergeant assumes a position behind the lectern.
- Flight Commander stands at Parade Rest to the right of the Flight Sergeant.
- Once everyone is in position, the Flight Sergeant executes roll call.
- When the Flight Sergeant calls a cadet's name, the cadet will assume the position of Attention, respond with “here, Ma’am/Sir,” and then returns to the position of Parade Rest.

After the completion of roll call, the Flight Sergeant stands two paces in front of the Flight Commander, salutes, and reports “Sir/Ma’am, roll call is completed.” The Flight Commander returns the salute and orders the Flight Sergeant to “prepare the flight for instruction.”

The Flight Sergeant will assume a position at the center of the flight (marching, using appropriate facing movements, and stands at the position of Attention) call the flight to Attention, followed by the command of At Ease. The flight will then be instructed to prepare for instruction. (The Flight Sergeant or Flight Commander will inquire from the instructor what preparation is needed for the day.) Once the cadets are prepared, the Flight Sergeant will return them to the position of Attention, reposition two paces from the Flight Commander, salute and report “Sir/Ma’am, the flight is prepared for instruction.”

The Flight Commander will return the salute and reply, “Thank you, take your position.” The Flight Sergeant drops their salute, performs an appropriate facing movement, stands behind their chair and assumes the position of Attention.

Following the departure of the Flight Sergeant the Flight Commander will assume a position at the center of the flight (marching, using appropriate facing movements, and stands at the position of Attention) and command the flight to “face the flag, salute, and pledge.” (The entire flight will recite the Pledge of allegiance)

After the pledge, the Flight Commander will instruct the flight to face the front and sing the Air Force song. Finally, the Flight Commander will ask them “what is our Honor Code?” followed by, “What are our Core Values?” The entire flight will respond with the appropriate answer following each question.

After the reaffirmation of the corps’ Honor Code and Core Values, the Flight Commander will command the flight “At Ease,” and instruct them to take their seats. Once the flight is seated, the Flight Commander will position themselves two paces away and directly in front of the instructor, salute, and report “Sir, the flight is prepared for instruction.” The instructor will return the salute and direct the Flight Commander to take their seat.

Additional Classroom Procedures

- Cadets that report to class late must quietly enter without disrupting the procedures and sign the late log.
- Only cadets in the classroom will be marked present.
- Before the bell rings to signify the end of the period, cadets must square away the classroom.
- When it is time to change classes, the flight commander will call the flight to attention. Upon receiving permission, the flight commander dismisses the flight. The flight will remain at attention until dismissed.
- All classes will be conducted in a military manner. The following are a few of the rules of conduct that will apply daily while in the classroom:
  - Speak only when called upon.
  - Answer Sir or Ma’am to all in authority positions.
  - Be prepared (writing utensils, notebooks) and on time. 6P’s-- Punctual, Paper, Pencil, Protocol, Prepared and Positive to learn)
  - Be considerate and courteous to others.

To instill habits of orderliness, decorum, and military bearing, the following room procedures will be observed by cadets.

- Cadets are expected to show respect for instructors, cadet officers and fellow cadets. Impertinence or disrespect will not be tolerated, and can result in a student’s removal from the AFJROTC program.
- Cadets will conduct themselves in a mature and adult manner at all times. When in uniform cadets will conduct themselves in a military manner.
- Cadets should address fellow cadets by their cadet rank or as ‘mister’ or ‘miss’ when in uniform.
- No gum, food or drinks in classroom without instructor permission.
- You need permission of the instructor to leave the classroom, (latrine, counselor, nurse, etc.) and must have a pass.
  - All trips to the latrine require entry into the latrine log.
  - Cadets cannot go to the latrine until 10 minutes after the late bell rings and no later than 10 minutes before the end of the period.
- Treat your fellow students with respect.
- Use proper terminology when addressing instructors, cadet officers, and cadet NCOs.
- Be prompt when returning parent and teacher consent forms.
• Bring a pen or pencil and paper to class every day.
• No profanity.
• No talking in class during instruction.
• No sitting on top of desks.
• Cadets have five days from an excused absence to make up all class assignments will be made up within five class days of an excused absence. If you miss an exam that was scheduled or announced before your absence, you will be expected to take the exam on the day you return to class. It is your responsibility to attain and make-up any missed assignments.
Adopt a Study System that Works for You

Find the study system that best suits your needs and will help you meet the challenges of BMT. If you had study habits that worked well for you in the past, continue using those techniques. Regardless of what methods you use, the important thing is to develop an approach that works for you and gives you great results. Applying these skills can be an excellent way to identify gaps in your learning, retain key information, clarify materials, reinforce what you learned and prepare for performance evaluations.

Study Habits:

Plan ahead: At night and on weekends, review what you have learned and preview the next day’s or week’s classes for main ideas. Studying a little every day is far better than trying to cram at the last minute.

Keep a positive attitude: Your attitude toward studying will influence how well you learn. If you do not feel like studying, make excuses or rationalize why you cannot do well, you set yourself up to do poorly. Believe in yourself and keep a positive attitude; if you convince yourself you can succeed, you will.

Avoid distractions: Many distractions exist, but try to minimize them. One area of concern is personal issues; if you have minor issues, try to temporarily put them aside. If there are items you need to deal with immediately, do so and gain assistance from your parents, guardians, friends, or JROTC Instructor, if needed.

Overcome barriers: Barriers can take many forms and can include distractions; lack of concentration; fatigue; stress; low self-esteem; noise; insufficient lighting; and poor vocabulary, study habits and time management skills.

Study time: Study for 30 - 60 minutes with a 5 - 10 minute break between sessions. You tend to learn more by the repetition of these shorter sessions.

Recalling: After studying or returning from a break, force yourself to mentally recall what you just learned.

Ask questions: Formulate questions to help you increase understanding and to clarify main points. If you do not understand the material, ask questions during class.

Designate a study area and time: Find the most appropriate area, and then study at the designated time every day.
Reading

Reading forms the basis of your study skills so improving your reading skills can be very beneficial.

Reading Skills:

Adjust your reading speed to the difficulty level: Speed up on the easy parts and slow down on the more difficult areas. If something is familiar to you, read faster; if it is unfamiliar, read slower.

Minimize the need to vocalize (read aloud) while reading: Stop vocalizing by looking for key words, main ideas or images. One technique is to shift your focus from a small area of print to a larger area. Do not read individual words one at a time: doing this is very ineffective. Let your eyes follow your hand or another object quickly. Concentrate on reading groups of words or every second or third word.

Avoid re-reading passages: To prevent constantly re-reading, avoid distractions, concentrate and find the best study area you can. It may help to cover up what you just read so you will not get distracted by it.

Do not let unknown words slow you down: Figure out the meaning of words by seeing how they are used in a sentence. To improve your vocabulary and comprehension, read more and study the meaning of words.

Practice reading to improve your skills: Most of us depend on habits we formed when we learned to read and never put much effort into improving these skills. If you have not taken steps to improve, start now.

Reading for Study

A tried and true method is to use the survey, question, read, recall and review method:

Survey: Preview the material to gain an idea of the main ideas (e.g., headings or bold print).

Question: After surveying, write questions about the subject you want answered.

Read: Read carefully to find out more detailed information and to search for answers to your questions.

Recall: To help you retain the information, try to summarize each section. Your goal is not to remember everything you read, but to rephrase or summarize main ideas or important points.

Review: Now review what you just read. Skim a section or chapter immediately after reading it, and then review any notes or questions you wrote Reading to Remember.

Organize the information: Arrange ideas into small groups to help you remember.
Make the information relevant: Connect the new information to things you already know.

Learn actively: Try to use all of your senses. Get up and move around as if you are practicing for a speech.

Use your long-term memory: Do this by reviewing the information several times. It often helps to change the order of information you recite during this review.

Effective Listening

You will spend a lot of time in your life listening. You may as well make the most of it by using it to enhance your learning experience. In JROTC, it can help you become a better student, but it does require effort and practice.

Listening skills:

Concentrate: During class, focus on the message (what is being said) instead of judging the delivery and mannerisms (the way something is said).

Take notes: Stay focused on the material by taking notes.

Stay physically alert: Maintain a comfortable position and try not to slouch. If you feel sleepy, hydrate; if this does not help, take your gear, move to the back of the class and stand up.

Stay mentally alert: Keep your mind engaged by asking questions or comparing the lecture to the chapter.

Use the time gap to your advantage: The average speaking rate is 120 words per minute and the average processing rate is 500 words per minute. Use the extra time to recall, rephrase and summarize the material.

Note Taking

Learning to take better notes can help your overall study habits. You may find the following techniques helpful:

Write short notes or highlight areas in the BMTSG that the WSMS Instructor emphasizes or repeats (do not write everything down as it may overwhelm you and cause you to miss key points).

Concentrate on finding, summarizing and understanding main points.

Define key words.

Paraphrase key items by writing them in your own words.
Pay attention to the entire class; it is easy to lose focus towards the middle and end parts of a class.

Organize your notes and rewrite them if necessary.

Pay attention to the visual aids.

Make it a habit to review your notes and any additional study material at the end of each day as repetition aids the learning process. On average, you can usually only recall about 50% of material after 48 hours. To counteract this, use your long-term memory by reviewing the information several times. You can also participate in study groups if you find this method helpful.

Test-Taking Skills

Advanced preparation is the key to doing well on tests. Use the skills discussed here to prepare, gain a better understanding of your subject material, lower your anxiety and help you obtain better test scores. By understanding test-taking techniques and common problems and solutions, it can help you reach your full potential.

Have a positive attitude: This can go a long way toward success and help decrease stress and fear.

Plan: Make a plan to study daily, and then stick with it. This will help you to be prepared and reduce stress and fear.

The night before: It is better to do a quick review and go to bed as early as possible. Your body and brain need sleep to function at their best. On the other hand, cramming is usually ineffective and stressful.

The day of the test: Eat a good meal before the test as you can think better on a full stomach.

Manage your time: Do not rush through the test and make needless mistakes. There is no prize for finishing first. Figure out how many minutes you can spend on each question and monitor your time accordingly. If there is a question that is stumping you, skip it and come back to it after you finish all of the other questions.

Read carefully: Carefully read the entire question and all possible answers, and then select the most correct answer. Do not select the first answer that looks correct as many of the answers may be close and you may pass over the most correct answer.

Process of elimination: Use this process to eliminate answers that cannot be correct.

Difficult questions: Do not let them get you worried or frustrated. Reread the question and choose the best answer and come back to these questions after you finish the rest of the test.
Do not change your answers: Once you mark an answer, you are better off leaving it alone. Do not change it unless you are absolutely positive another answer is correct. Experience shows that your first impression is usually correct.

Review your answers: After you finish the test, use the remaining time to double-check all of your answers; check for careless errors such as skipping a question (not marking an answer) or marking the wrong answer.

Test Taking Problems and Solutions

| Fear          | Keep a positive attitude, prepare properly and perform breathing exercises to help combat fear.
                   |   - If you tell yourself you will do well, it will help you do just that; however, if you tell yourself the test will be difficult and that you are likely to fail, it can cause you to do just that.
                   |   - Make a study plan to complete daily and stick to it.
                   |   - Perform the deep breathing exercise: take a deep breath in, hold it for 10 seconds and slowly exhale. Repeat this exercise several times to calm yourself down. |
| Mental block  | If you are unable to concentrate or have a temporary memory block, Do Not Panic or Give Up. Know that these temporary lapses of memory are normal. Simply, take a few moments to perform the deep breathing exercise, and then get back to the test. |
| Overconfidence| Prevent overconfidence by listening to and following all directions and reading each question and all answers completely before selecting your answer. |
| Irritation    | Keep a positive attitude as becoming irritated can cause you to stress out, lose your concentration and to miss more questions. Take a few moments to perform the deep breathing exercise, and then get back to the test. |
| Not Enough Time| To prevent not having enough time to finish the test, plan your time before you start the test. Figure out how many minutes you can spend on each question and monitor your time accordingly. If there is a question that is stumping you, skip it and come back to it after you finish all of the other questions. Do Not Panic! |
| Mechanical Errors | Mechanical errors, such as mismarking an answer, are common and occur when you rush or are careless. Prevent these types of errors by slowing down, paying attention to detail and marking answers carefully. |
Growth and Leadership Opportunities

The AFJROTC corps of cadets is a self-sustaining operation. The instructors teach the classes and advise the cadets, but most of the work and planning are handled by the cadets. Therefore, cadets who are interested have a position in this program to help the corps work. Without these the corps would not exist. You have every opportunity to help with these functions. You can help with

- Planning and Organizing trips, parties, and other recreational programs
- Planning and Organizing community service
- Designing and working with bulletin boards, newsletters, and scrapbooks
- Taking photographs and videos
- Keeping the classroom in order
- Uniform Issue and Control
- Filing and Updating Records

Student Leadership

One of the most difficult aspects of the program for new cadets to adjust to is the concept of student leadership. NY-20011 is an entirely cadet run corps. The cadet corps and the cadet staff working together, with minimum supervision from the instructors carry out all corps activities, responsibilities, and jobs totally.

In your first two years as a cadet, you will follow orders given by fellow cadets of higher rank. (Select cadets who participate and distinguish themselves often become leaders during these first two years). As you progress in the program by learning leadership techniques, participating in corps activities, and demonstrating academic competence, you will obtain leadership positions and job responsibilities. Although you may still have to take orders from higher-ranking cadets, you will be able to give orders and carry out tasks, which require greater responsibility. As was mentioned before, it is your decision as to how much the program benefits you. It is your corps; take it as far as you want to go.

Cadet Ranks

A rank system is used in AFJROTC in order to designate positions of responsibility, teach the chain of command, and reward those cadets for their hard work and accomplishments. All students start with the rank of Cadet Airman Basic. Having a higher rank than others should be handled carefully. It is not a license to do whatever you want! Hazing, teasing, and poor treatment of cadets will not be tolerated and is STRICTLY PROHIBITED. The SASI will deal harshly with any cadet who uses their leadership position, seniority, or rank/grade to engage in behavior, physical or verbal, that is demeaning, retaliatory, or dangerous for personal gain. This prohibition includes directing a cadet to do pushups or other physical activities for punishment or directing comments towards a cadet that can be interpreted as threatening, demeaning, or containing prejudicial comments or overtones.
Privileges of Rank

The privileges of rank do not include the "privilege" of abuse of position. The needs of the organization as a whole come first. The cadet officer or noncommissioned officer who believes that they are above the regulations will not be tolerated. Abuse of position will be condemned. Accepting rank carries with it an awesome responsibility that some cadets are unwilling or unable to carry out. They soon find that “getting a thing is not quite as pleasurable as wanting a thing.”

Cadet Promotions and Job Assignments

Cadet job assignments place the cadet in a leadership position, where he/she can demonstrate and refine leadership skills. Promotions and assignments are not based solely on past performance, but on the cadet’s potential and willingness to assume jobs of increased responsibility. Promotions are tied to assignment to leadership jobs where a cadet can make and learn from his mistakes. Promotions will normally be limited to an increase of no more than two grades (ranks) at one time. Promotions will considered up to four times per year.

The SASI will approve cadet promotions, demotions, and job assignments. The incoming and outgoing cadet corps commanders will submit staff position recommendations to the SASI who will approve all key staff and commander assignments.

Cadets desiring to be an officer must be at least a C/SSgt, have previously held a cadet job position, and must pass the Cadet Officer Training Course (COTC). First year cadets are not eligible for officer promotion.

Promotion and Job Assignment Selection Criteria:

- Academics
- Performance of cadet duties
- Participation in cadet activities.
- Punctuality, following rules, accepting responsibilities, conduct, uniform, personal appearance
- Behavior and Military Bearing
- C/SSgt through C/SMSgt requires a minimum score of 70 on the promotion test.

Job Assignment Policies:

Cadets who are seniors or third year cadets are expected to have corps jobs and thus receive priority for assignment to senior cadet staff, commanders, and officer jobs. If there is a lack of qualified candidates, then high school junior or sophomore cadets will be assigned to supervisory jobs, but with a lesser rank/grade. If a cadet fails AFJROTC, then they are ineligible for promotion.

The Rook System - First Year Cadets

All first-year students are considered Rooks (short for Rookies). They are assisted in their preparation to accept the duties and responsibilities as a cadet in the NY-20011 through the Rook program. During this period all new students undergo orientation and training with the assistance of an assigned mentor. We conduct training with formal impartiality while allowing a unique opportunity for the upperclassmen to be in positions of responsibility and exercise authority.

The role of the Rook is to follow, since learning to follow is necessary before one can learn to lead. Mistakes are to be expected when one is learning to lead. Trial and error and daily practice are essential steps to understanding the fundamental techniques required of a leader. Upon successful completion of the ok program, first-year students officially become Cadets and receive their first promotion.

Teams, Club, and Corps Activities

There are many opportunities for cadets to participate in Teams, clubs, and extracurricular events. There must be sufficient interest in order to create and maintain a team or club. However, extracurricular activities will be regularly scheduled.

Awareness Presentation Team

The Awareness Presentation Team travels to the elementary schools to help younger students become more aware of the problems we face with substance abuse and other health issues today. They are actively involved with many community schools. Their goal is to educate the youth of our communities and hopefully prevent a child from killing him/herself through substance abuse.

The Honor Guard, Color Guard, and Drill Team

A cadet that meets the tremendous standards of The Honor Guard will join the most elite group of cadets ever assembled. They are the guardians of the honor of the corps and its symbols, i.e., the flags of the United States of America and NY-20011. They uphold all the rules and regulations of the Corps most importantly the "Honor Code." We make up this special unit with members of the Honor Guard who have successfully met all requirements. Their example of military bearing and professional conduct is beyond reproach always.
The Fighting Mustangs Drill Team is made up of cadets who have displayed excellence in drill performance. This includes military bearing, self-discipline, obedience to command, respect for authority, drill precision, and uniform knowledge and wear. Standards are high and membership is very competitive. Membership is open to all cadets who are willing to dedicate themselves to hours of practice. Think of it as a varsity team.

Kitty Hawk Air Society

The Kitty Hawk Air Society is an honor society that promotes high academic standards, service to the school and to the community. It promotes self-confidence and initiative. It develops leadership ability, encourages academic excellence, and furthers development in the post high school years. In order to be eligible, you must be, academically, in the top 20% of all cadets.

Static Model Club

The Static Model Club meets to assemble models of all types for display. Membership is open to all cadets with an interest in building models.

The Model Rocket Club

In their meetings, the model rocket club assembles rockets for launches and eventually earns the Model Rocketry Badge to be worn on their uniforms. Membership is open to all cadets with an interest in rocketry.

Parties/Dances

Informal parties, dances, and movie nights will be planned and accomplished depending on cadet interest and anticipated participation. A military ball is traditionally held in the spring of each year during Bronx Week. An annual award ceremony will be held in the month of May to recognize cadets for their outstanding efforts. Participation is voluntary but encouraged as it is a highlight of the year’s activities.

CyberPatriot

CyberPatriot is the National Youth Cyber Education Program created by the Air Force Association to inspire K-12 students toward careers in cybersecurity or other science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) disciplines critical to our nation’s future. At the core of the program is the National Youth Cyber Defense Competition, the nation’s largest cyber defense competition that puts high school and middle school students in charge of securing virtual networks. Other programs include AFA CyberCamps, an elementary school cyber education initiative, a children’s literature series, and CyberGenerations – a cyber safety initiative geared toward keeping senior citizens safe online.
Military Courtesies

Perhaps the most common thought of courtesy in the Air Force is the hand salute. The salute is used as a greeting and a sign of recognition between professionals. It is also rendered as a mark of honor for the nation's colors and to show respect for our country.

How to Render the Hand Salute

First you must either be standing or marching at the position of attention. Raise the right hand smartly and smoothly up the front (center line) of your body as close as possible without touching the chest. At waist level, extend and join fingers, thumb along the forefinger. Keep the palm flat and facing the body. Form a straight line between fingertips and elbow. Tilt the palm slightly toward the face. Hold the upper arm horizontal and slightly in front of the body, parallel to the ground. The tip of the middle finger will touch either your eyebrow above the outside corner of your right eye (if a hat or glasses are not worn), or the top outside corner of glasses if worn (without a hat), or the front right corner of your hat brim or hat bill. When the salute has been returned, the hand is automatically dropped downward tracing the same path along the front of the body.

Guidelines for Saluting

- You must render the salute when pledging allegiance to the US flag outdoors. Never render a salute indoors unless performing a formal report to an officer.
- When indoors and the National Anthem is played or Pledge of Allegiance is recited, stand at attention and face the music, or the flag if one is present.
- When outdoors, salute when the United States National Anthem, "To the Colors," "Hail to the Chief," or foreign anthems are played.
- Only render a salute when standing or marching at the position of attention.
- Always render the salute allowing sufficient time for the senior member to return it.
- When the pledge of allegiance is recited, cadets not in uniform will stand at attention (remove headdress, if any, with the right hand) and place the right hand over the heart.
Reporting Procedures

As a cadet, you may at times request to speak to an officer, or be notified that an officer wishes to speak to you. In these cases, reporting to the officer is appropriate and required. Therefore, it is imperative for each cadet to learn and practice reporting procedures. When done properly, the reporting procedure will give the officer a positive impression of your military bearing. A good impression could make all the difference in the officer’s attitude toward you and the meeting, so make the best impression possible! The reporting procedure can be broken down into three simple and easy to follow steps: entrance, reporting, and departure.

Entrance - Report at once when notified to do so. Never keep anyone waiting unnecessarily. Before entering the room, knock once firmly and loudly enough to be heard. If there is no answer within a reasonable amount of time, knock again in the same manner. When told to enter, march in at the position of attention, taking the most direct route to the officer. Halt approximately three paces from the officer or from the desk if the officer is seated. Always halt in a manner so that you face the officer squarely.

Reporting - This procedure is the second and most critical step in reporting to an officer. Always report while paying strict attention to military bearing. Be sure all actions are not exaggerated, your voice is clear, concise, and in a conversational tone. The first step is to salute. This is done whether the officer is seated or standing. Begin giving the reporting statement as soon as your salute is rendered. The official reporting statement to be used is as followed: "Sir/Ma'am, Cadet (followed by your rank and last name) reports as ordered," Hold the salute until the reporting statement is completed and the officer has returned the salute. Remain standing at attention unless ordered to do otherwise. When the conversation is completed, or the officer has dismissed you, come to the position of attention. Render the salute, holding it until the officer returns it, then drop the salute.

Departure - The final step in reporting to an officer is the departure. Upon dropping the salute, execute the appropriate facing movement (about face, left face, right face, or a face in marching) and march out at the position of attention, taking the most direct route. Remember to always maintain proper military bearing at all times while reporting to an officer.

Personal and Associated Courtesies

Whether you are a member of the active duty Air Force or a cadet in the NY-20011, there are certain customs and courtesies that you should practice. We expect you to be familiar with the practice of these personal courtesies whether you are dealing with fellow cadets, active duty, or retired service members. The following are situations you may encounter as a cadet where these courtesies would be applicable:

- If a cadet is seated when an officer speaks to him or her, he or she should stand.
- When accompanying an officer or a higher-ranking cadet, you should walk or ride to their left.
Always use the correct titles when addressing a fellow cadet, officer, or even retired members of the armed services.

The conveying of gossip, slander, harsh criticism, and fault finding are impolite practices.

Do not argue or take orders personally. If you are given an order or an assignment, do not dodge responsibility or argue with the superior giving it. If clarification is needed, then ask the person to explain the situation further.

Foul and vulgar language is repulsive to all self-respecting people. Its use by leaders is reprehensible.

Never lean or sit on a senior officer's desk. Most officers resent it. Stand erect unless invited to be seated.

Personal Appearance, Mannerisms, and Conversation

Personal Appearance - A person should always dress in a way that is suitable for the occasion.

Mannerisms - carrying a comb is highly improper if it shows. It is bad manners to comb or brush your hair in public and, picking teeth and cleaning fingernails is something that cultured people never do in public. You should take great care always to keep fingernails clean.

Conversation - It is poor manners to use "uh huh" or similar expressions in talking to strangers, older people, or your superiors. Say "Yes, ma'am (sir)" or "No, ma'am (sir)." Your conversation should not contain juvenile terms. You should avoid such uncultured terms as "yeah" and "nope" and other slang expressions. Above all, remember to whom you are talking and gauge your conversation accordingly. Profanity is never tolerated and the use of the "N" word is prohibited.

Military Bearing

Now that you have a better understanding of how the program at the NY-20011 works, you may now begin to learn to take on the attitude that we expect of our cadets. The NY-20011 is an Air Force sponsored program. We will teach you to conduct yourself professionally and maturely. Having military bearing means practicing simple common courtesies to those around you, such as those discussed earlier, and taking pride in yourself, your unit, and the things you do and accomplish. Military bearing may also be defined in the way you carry yourself, strict attention to detail, and overall attitude toward the program and the standards of the professional. Being familiar with the customs and courtesies mentioned in this handbook will help you to gain and practice military bearing.
The Uniform

The uniform is an integral part of the NY-20011 program and perhaps the most recognizable characteristic. The Air Force requires it to be worn once a week by the cadets participating in the program. Each member of the corps should be proud of the privilege of wearing the uniform; so all personnel should wear it with pride. By doing so, they enhance the standing of both themselves and the NY-20011 in the eyes of others. Remember, whatever you do while in uniform will reflect on everyone who wears this uniform.

Your responsibility regarding the uniform is comparable to that of the active duty person. It is the same uniform, with certain exceptions, as that worn by active duty Air Force personnel. Cadets do not wear commissioned officer rank insignia or sleeve braid. Otherwise, all cadets wear the standard Air Force service uniform. NY-20011 places great emphasis on this matter throughout the program. How you wear the uniform subjects you and the Corps to praise or fault by fellow cadets, fellow students, and the community at large.

History of the Uniform

The English word “uniform” originated from a combination of two Latin words, unus and forma, which means “one form.” The word “uniform” thus infers a peculiar manner of apparel. In ancient times, the Roman togas yielded a unique attire. The toga, a loose outer garment worn by citizens appearing in public, came in several styles. The toga candida was a white garment worn only by candidates for public office. The toga palmata was a fancy toga worn to ceremonial affairs. The toga praetexta, a white toga with a purple border, was worn only by emperors. The toga sordida was worn by the lower classes and by mourners and prisoners accused of crimes.

Military apparel in ancient times acquired a certain degree of sameness but in a much different sense from modern military uniforms. During the Peloponnesian War in the fifth century B.C., the Athenians and Spartan soldiers dressed according to their position in military formations. The Greek heavy infantryman wore a helmet, breastplate, and armor covering his legs below the knee. They also carried a shield and sword. The light-foot soldier had only a lighter built shield and a spear. These were military uniforms in the sense that all the soldiers looked alike. To this extent, therefore, we assign the origin of the military uniform to an early date in western civilization.

During the Great Rebellion (1642-1646), the English Parliament decided to raise and support an army. National armies, with standardized uniforms, thus became a reality. The English uniform, red in color but with different colored facing to distinguish regiments, gained national significance. These regiments were named by their facing colors: blue, red, orange, etc. The uniform styles were really an adaptation of civilian dress and featured an ample coat, waistcoat, breeches, stockings, and shoes or, with cavalry, boots.

From this start, the military uniform evolved. During this slow process, the uniform ranged from the extreme of ornamentation to the opposite extreme of drabness. Some claim that the more colorful the uniform, the more uncomfortable the soldier. High, tight collars, tight breeches, and boots that restricted knee action, looked attractive but were not functional.
Uniform Wear

Just as the person on active duty, you are obligated to wear the uniform properly and proudly. Wearing the uniform serves a dual purpose. Not only does it represent the uniqueness of the Air Force Junior JROTC program, but also teaches attention to detail, instills pride, and teaches the student to follow a uniform code of standards. With practice and attention to detail, all the DOs and DON'TS about the proper wear and care of the uniform and personal appearance will soon become almost automatic. Be proud of the uniform and the way it looks. A smart appearance is important not only in drill practice, but also in performing various other duties and attending military functions. The following are guidelines that must be understood and carried out by each cadet when wearing the uniform.

The AFJROTC cadet uniform is an integral part of our program and the most recognizable characteristic. The Air Force requires it to be worn once a week. Those that refuse to wear the uniform will not receive JROTC credit and will fail the class. Remember, there is never any obligation to serve in the armed forces at any time. The fitting standards, wearing instructions, and personal grooming instructions standards as prescribed in Air Force Instruction 36-2903 are applicable. It is the cadet's responsibility to maintain all uniform items in a clean and orderly condition during the school year and prior to turn-in.

We wear two basic uniforms. Blues are worn once a week on uniform day (Wednesday). The Corps Commander will announce the combination. The Airman Battle Uniform (ABU) is authorized for wear except on designated uniform days where the Air Force blue uniform is required. Any cadet may purchase the ABU, but will not wear it until cleared by the instructor staff, since it must be worn a specific way with specific tapes and patches.

Uniform Cleaning

Keep the uniform clean, neat, and pressed. All dark blue items of the uniform must be dry-cleaned. Only the light blue shirt and blouse may be washed (after each day's wear). Speak to an instructor if money for dry-cleaning is a problem.

Enforcement of Uniform Wear

Cadet Corps student leaders, cadet officers, cadet master sergeants and above and cadet flight sergeants have the authority over others in the enforcement of prescribed uniform wear and proper behavior. They are also authorized and expected to make on-the-spot corrections. If the cadet fails to respond to correction, he/she should be reported to the SASI/ASI for appropriate disciplinary action.

When correcting others, cadets are encouraged to do so privately and as discreetly as possible. Cadets receiving the corrective action are encouraged to accept constructive criticism in the proper spirit. Avoid difficulties and embarrassment by wearing the uniform properly. Any cadet who feels mistreated may appeal to the SASI or ASI. Please remember to wear the uniform for the entire school day.
General Uniform Guidelines

When a cadet wears the uniform, he/she is responsible for presenting a neat, clean, and professional military image. Appearance and grooming standards help cadets present the image of disciplined cadets who can be relied upon to do the job they are called on to do. A professional military image has no room for the extreme, the unusual, or the faddish. The standards for wearing the uniform consist of five elements: neatness, cleanliness, safety, uniformity and military image. The first four are absolute, objective criteria for the efficiency, health, and well-being of the force. The fifth standard, military image is also very important, military appearance is subjective, but necessary. People, both military and civilian, draw conclusions as to the military effectiveness of the Air Force by how they perceive those in uniform.

Cadets will wear the uniform every Wednesday or as prescribed by the Senor Instructor. All cadets will wear the uniform for the entire school day from when the first bell rings for your first class, until when the final bell rings for your last class of the day. Cadets will wear the uniform properly from the time they leave their homes until the time they return. Cadets will be given a graded uniform inspection on uniform days. “The uniform is in the cleaners, it is too small, or I am missing uniform items” are not valid excuses for not wearing the uniform.

Failure to wear the uniform reflects negatively upon yourself, your class and our entire program. You may make up a missed inspection by wearing the uniform any time before the next uniform day (except Friday). If the absence is excused you will get a full grade. If it is unexcused, you can only earn up to a grade of 65. Failure to make up the uniform inspection will result in a zero (0). When making up an inspection it is the responsibility of the cadet to approach the instructors and request an inspection. Do not assume that just because you wore the uniform to school that you were inspected. When making up a uniform inspection, the uniform must be worn all day. Uniform inspections make up 30% of your total grade. YOU MUST WEAR THE UNIFORM The ENTIRE SCHOOL DAY (except gym class). IF YOU TAKE IT OFF EARLY, YOU WILL RECEIVE A ZERO.

- While in uniform, do not perform labor, engage in sport activities, or do anything that would degrade the uniform.
- Uniform must be properly worn from the time you leave your home to the time you return.
- Civilian outer garments such as coats, sweaters, hoodies, etc., must not be worn over the uniform once you enter the school building.
- If the uniform does not fit properly, see the unit logistics officer or your instructor. Do not wait until someone else calls attention to it. Check your appearance in a mirror. Bear in mind that how you look influences others.
- Only items issued to you are to be worn (with certain exceptions approved by the SASI).
- Never mix one uniform with another or with civilian clothes (including the ABU) or given to anyone who is not a member of NY-20011.
- Place and wear insignia properly. Wear only the insignia that is issued to you.
- Keep the uniform clean, neat, pressed, and serviceable.
• All loose strings and frayed seams on the uniform must be trimmed off.
• Keep hands out of pockets, unless retrieving items.
• Do not fill pockets with bulky items. Combs, pens, etc., must not stick out of pockets.
• Book bags will be carried single strap on the left shoulder only. Do not double strap book bags when wearing the Air Force uniform.
• Keep all buttons fastened except the collar button if not wearing a tie or tie tab.
• Keep shirt tails tucked into pants at all times.
• Pants’ waistline must be worn above the hip bone. DO NOT SAG YOUR PANTS.
• Make sure your “GIG LINE” is properly adjusted.
• Males wear the belt tip facing the wearer’s left while females wear the belt tip facing the wearer’s right.
• Keep shoes clean and shined, including the heels and the edge of the soles.
• Keep all metal uniform items such as belt buckles, badges, and insignia clean.
• The cadet officer epaulet insignia must be centered and 5/8 inch from the seam.
• The school patch must be placed on right sleeve one inch below the shoulder seam and centered.
• When wearing the short-sleeved blue shirt with tie, keep the collar buttoned and have the knot of the necktie covering the button.
• Wristwatches, bracelets, and rings may be worn. “Loud” or conspicuous jewelry or adornments will not be worn with the uniform. When in uniform, no more than three rings (total for both hands) may be worn. One bracelet is permitted if it is neat and conservative and is not wider than one inch.
• Male cadets will wear an undershirt with all uniforms, and it must be plain, white, and clean. V-neck undershirts will be worn with open collar uniforms.
• Wear only black shoes and socks with the blue uniform. Only authorized military boots are to be worn with the ABU. Every eyelet must be laced on all shoes and boots. Shoes and boots must be tightly laced.
• Cadets will not participate in any demonstration anywhere, while in uniform.
• While in uniform, participating in sports activities is not permitted.
• When it is too warm in any classroom for the blue service coat, cadets may remove them with permission of the instructor. However, cadets may not remove the tie or roll up shirtsleeves. All buttons must remain buttoned if the coat is on. When leaving the classroom, the coat must be worn with all buttons fastened.
• Do not leave uniform items in unlocked lockers or unattended in other places at school.
• Do not lend uniform items to other cadets or persons.
• Do not permit another cadet to turn in your uniform or equipment items.
• Do not place your uniform in the care of others.
• Do be alert for uniform or equipment items left or misplaced by another cadet. Turn in such items to the AFJROTC instructors.
• Clothing items that become worn out or damaged should be turned in to the SASI or ASI as soon as possible. If the unserviceable condition is due to fair wear and tear in normal use, the items will be replaced at no cost. Items of clothing that do not fit properly should be altered or exchanged.

• Jewelry. While in uniform will be plain and conservative (moderate, being within reasonable limits; not excessive or extreme) as determined by the SASI.

• Bracelets. Ankle bracelets are not authorized. Cadets may wear one bracelet around their wrist. If worn, the bracelet will be conservative (moderate, being within reasonable limits; not excessive or extreme) (which is defined as plain, not drawing attention or faddish) in design, no wider than ½ inch, gold or silver in color, and will not have any inappropriate pictures or writing. Medical alert/identification bracelets are authorized; however, if worn, they will be conservative (moderate, being within reasonable limits; not excessive or extreme) (which is defined as plain, not drawing inappropriate attention or faddish). Bracelets espousing support for cause, philosophy, individual or group are not authorized (Exception: Traditional metal POW/MIA/KIA bracelets, which come in colors besides silver, bronze, or gold, remain authorized). Colored/rubber bracelets that support a cause are not allowed to be worn in uniform.

• Eyeglasses or Sunglasses. If you wear glasses, they must not have any ornaments on the frames or lenses. Eyeglass lenses that are conservative, clear, slightly tinted, or have photosensitive lenses may be worn in uniform while indoors or while in military formation. When outdoors and in uniform, sunglasses and eyeglasses must have lenses and frames that are conservative; faddish or mirrored lenses are prohibited. Sunglasses are not allowed while in a military formation. Neither eyeglasses nor sunglasses can be worn around the neck while in uniform.

• Tattoos or Brands. Whether you are in or out of uniform, tattoos or brands anywhere on the body are not allowed if they are obscene or if they advocate sexual, racial, ethnic, or religious discrimination. Tattoos or brands that might harm good order and discipline or bring discredit upon the Air Force are also barred, whether you are in or out of uniform. The SASI may exercise discretion if a new cadet arrives with a tattoo that may not be in full compliance with the above guidance.

• Body Piercing. Cadets in uniform are not allowed to attach or display objects, articles, jewelry, or ornamentation to or through the ear (other than authorized), nose, tongue, or any exposed body part (including anything that might be visible through the uniform). Cadets may not cover any of these articles with make-up, band aids, or wearing clear post pins to hide body piercings.

• Back Packs. Cadets may wear a back pack on the left shoulder or both shoulders (not to interfere with rendering the proper salute).

The U.S. Air Force

Air Force Birthday: 18 September 1947

The U.S. Air Force is the youngest armed force. The need for such a force was proven during World War II, when the air offense and defense were major factors in the war’s successful conclusion. Nearly 612,000 men and women are now on active duty. The Air Force started within the U.S. Army in August 1907, when one officer and two enlisted men were assigned to the newly established Aeronautical Division in the Office of the Chief Signal Officer. The division underwent a number of changes before being formally designated in 1920 as the Air Service, a combatant arm of the Army. Six years later the service formally became the Army Air Corps. Early in World War II, the corps became the Army Air Forces, with General H. H. Arnold the commanding general. Following the war, President Harry S. Truman signed the National Security Act of 1947, which established not only a new defense organization - the Department of Defense - but a separate Department of the Air Force which was on an equal footing with the Army and Navy. Thus were established separate military departments for land, sea, and air.

The U.S. Air Force Academy

The Air Force Academy is located 10 miles north of Colorado Springs on 18,000 acres bordered on the west by the Rocky Mountains. The Cadet Wing is composed of approximately 4,400 young men and women; the first women cadets entered in June 1976. Graduates are commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force. The Academy was established in Congress on 1 April 1954. The first class (306 cadets) was sworn in on 11 July 1955 at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, while new buildings were under construction at Colorado Springs. On 29 August 1958, cadets moved into their new quarters, and the first class (206 members) graduated the following year.

U.S. Air Force JROTC History

Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (JROTC) can track its heritage to a program founded in 1911 in Cheyenne, Wyoming, by Army Lt Edgar R. Steevers. Lieutenant Steevers was assigned as an inspector-instructor of the organized military of Wyoming. During his assignment, he envisioned a noncompulsory cadet corps comprised of high school students. His program was aimed toward making better citizens.

The National Defense Act of 1916 authorized a junior course for non-college military schools, high schools and other non-preparatory schools. The Army implemented JROTC in 1916. Public Law 88-647, commonly known as the ROTC Vitalization Act of 1964, directed the secretaries of each military service to establish and maintain JROTC units for their respective services. The first Air Force JROTC programs were opened in 1966.

“(The) purpose of Junior Reserve Officers’ Training Corps [is] to instill in students in United States secondary educational institutions the value of citizenship, service to the United States, personal responsibility, and a sense of accomplishment.” (10 USC Sec 2031)

Air Force JROTC (AFJROTC) is a continuing success story. From a modest beginning of 20 units in 1966, AFJROTC has grown to 879 units throughout the world, with 102,000 cadets. The AFJROTC program positively influences our country by helping one student at a time. Comprised solely of active duty Air Force retirees, the AFJROTC instructor force is helping to form tomorrow’s nation by educating proud and patriotic cadets—tomorrow’s leaders.

NY-20011 History

Harry S Truman High School’s Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps was activated in 04 September 2001. The “NY” in the unit designation represents the state of New York. “20011” means the unit was the first unit to be activated in New York State during the 2001 school year. NY-20011 is located in the last big high school in the Bronx.

The U.S. Air Force Song

FIRST VERSE

Off we go into the wild blue yonder, climbing high into the sun.
Here they come, zooming to meet our thunder; at ’em boys, give ’er the gun!
Down we dive, spouting our flames from under, off with one helluva roar!
We live in fame or go down in flames,
Nothing can stop the U.S. Air Force!

SECOND VERSE

Minds of men, fashioned a crate of thunder, sent it high into the blue.
Hands of men blasted the world asunder, how they lived God only knew!
Souls of men dreaming of skies to conquer, give us wings ever to soar.
With scout before and bomber galore,
Nothing can stop the U.S. Air Force!

BREAK STRAIN

Here's a toast to the host of those who live the vastness of the sky.
From a friend we send a message of his brothers and sisters who fly.
We drink to those who gave their rainbow's pot of gold.
A toast to the host of those who boast, the U.S. Air Force!

THIRD VERSE

Off we go, into the wild blue yonder, keep the wings level and true.
If you’d live to be a gray-haired wonder, keep the nose out of the blue!
Flying men, guarding the nation’s borders, we’ll be there, followed by more!
Nothing'll stop the U.S. Air Force!
U.S. Air Force Blue

We take the blue from the skies and some pretty blue eyes
And a touch of Old Glory’s hue,
And fervently declare we’re proud to wear
The U.S. Air Force Blue.

We have the drive and the dream in America’s team
We’re a rugged and ready crew
And you can bet your boots the world looks up
To U.S. Air Force Blue.

We know where we’re going, we’ve set our course
The sky’s no limit in the Air Force!

And when the blue from the skies meets the gleam in our eyes
And a touch of Old Glory’s hue,
We fervently declare we’re proud to wear
The U.S. Air Force Blue.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
Health and Wellness is an official part of the Air Force Junior ROTC program. It is an exercise program focused upon individual base line improvements with the goal of achieving a national standard as calculated with age and gender. Wellness is instrumental in developing citizens of character dedicated to serving our nation and communities. The program is provided as a tool to help develop individualized training programs for the cadets. Cadets will be given the opportunity to practice the wellness concepts taught in Leadership Education 100. Instructors may include other activities cadets enjoy such as team sports in order to keep the Wellness Program fun and motivating. The Wellness Program is a 36-week program modifiable to meet individual goals. Personal improvement will be rewarded. The 36-week program is comprised of several exercises which can be conducted with minimal space and with minimal climate dependency. The exercises develop all muscle groups and provide sufficient anaerobic and aerobic intensity. They require no equipment and use only body weight and common objects (e.g. chairs).

COURSE DESCRIPTION
The Science of Flight is a science course designed to acquaint the student with the aerospace environment, the human requirements of flight, principles of aircraft flight, and principles of navigation. The course begins with a discussion of the atmosphere and weather. After developing an understanding of the environment, how that environment affects flight is introduced. Discussions include the forces of lift, drag, thrust, and weight. Students also learn basic navigation including map reading, course plotting, and the effects of wind. The portion on the Human Requirements of Flight is a survey course on human physiology. Discussed here are the human circulatory system, the effects of acceleration and deceleration, and protective equipment.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This is a science course that includes the latest information available in space science and space exploration. The course begins with the study of the space environment form the earliest days of interest in astronomy and early ideas of the heavens, through the Renaissance, and on into modern astronomy. It provides an in-depth study of the Earth, Sun, stars, Moon, and solar system, including the terrestrial and outer planets. It discusses issues critical to travel in the upper atmosphere such as orbits and trajectories of unmanned satellites, and space probes. It investigates the importance of entering space and discusses manned and unmanned space flights, focusing on concepts surrounding spaceflight, space vehicles, launch systems, and space missions. The section on manned spaceflight focuses on the Space Shuttle, space stations and beyond, covering milestones in the endeavor to land on the Moon and to safely orbit humans and crafts for temporary and prolonged periods. The course covers the human aspect of spaceflight, focusing on the human experience in space. It also examines the latest advances in space technology, including robotics in space, the Mars Rover, and commercial uses of space.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Survival text is a synthesis of the basic survival information found in Air Force Regulation 64-4 Survival Training. The survival instruction will provide training in skills, knowledge, and attitudes necessary to successfully perform fundamental tasks needed for survival. Survival also presents “good to know” information that would be useful in any situation. The information is just as useful to an individual lost hunting or stranded in a snowstorm.

1.1 Specific Female Cadet Grooming Guidelines.

1.1.1 Hair-Female. No minimum hair length to a maximum bulk of 3 ½ inches from scalp and allows proper wear of headgear. Hair will end above the bottom edge of collar and will not extend below an invisible line drawn parallel to the ground, both front to back and side to side. Bangs, or side-swiped hair will not touch either eyebrow, to include an invisible line drawn across eyebrows and parallel to the ground. See Figure 3.2. When in doubt, assess correct length of hair with Airman standing in the position of attention. Exception: While wearing the Physical Training Uniform (PTU), long hair will be secured but may have loose ends and may extend below the bottom edge of the collar.

1.1.2 Hair color, highlights, lowlights, and frosting will not be faddish or extreme and will be natural looking hair color, similar to the individual’s hair color (e.g. black, brunette, blond, natural red, and grey).

1.1.3 Hair accessories. If worn, black hair accessories (e.g., fabric scrunchies, hairpins, combs, clips, headbands, elastic bands, barrettes, etc.) are authorized regardless of hair color.

1.1.4 Locs, braids, twists, micro-braids, french braids, dutch braids and cornrows are authorized. Locs are defined as portions of hair that have been intentionally or unintentionally fused together to form a loc or locs. A braid or twist is two or more portions of interwoven hair. If adding additional hair, it must be a natural-looking color, similar to the individual’s hair color. It must be conservative (moderate, being within reasonable limits; not excessive or extreme) and not present a faddish appearance. Hair must not exceed bulk and length standards and must not extend below the bottom of the collar. See figure 3.3). Headgear must fit properly.

1.1.5 All locs, braids, and twists, when worn will be of uniform dimension, no wider than one inch, with natural spacing between the locs, braids, or twists and must be tightly interwoven to present a neat, professional and well-groomed appearance. When worn, multiple locs, braids, or twists shall be of uniform dimension, small in diameter (approx. ¼ inches), show no more than ¼ inch of scalp between the locs, braids or twists and must be tightly fused/interwoven to present a neat, professional appearance. A loc, or braid must continue to the end of the hair without design and following the contour of the head, and may be worn loose or in a secured style within hair standards in paragraph 1.1.1. above. [Exception: Micro-braids or twists are not required to continue to the end of the hair.]

1.1.6. Unauthorized: Mohawk, mullet or etched design.
1.1.7. Fingernails. Fingernail polish, if worn by female cadets, will be a single color that does not distinctly contrast with the female cadet’s complexion, detract from the uniform, or be extreme colors. Some examples of extreme colors included, but are not limited to, purple, gold, blue, black, bright (fire engine) red and florescent colors. Do not apply designs to nails or apply two-tone or multi-tone colors. However, white-tip French manicures are authorized. Fingernails must not exceed ¼ inch in length beyond the tip of the finger and must be clean and well groomed.

1.1.8. Skirts. The length of your skirt may not vary beyond the top and bottom of the kneecap. Your skirt will fit smoothly, hang naturally, and must not be excessively tight. You must wear hosiery with the skirt. Choose a sheer nylon in a neutral dark brown, black, off-black, or dark blue shade that complements the uniform and your skin tone.

1.1.9. Earrings. Female cadets may wear small round or square white diamond, gold, white pearl, or silver earrings. If member has multiple holes, only one set of earrings are authorized to be worn in uniform and will be worn in the lower earlobes. Earrings will match and fit tightly without extending below the earlobe unless the piece extending is the connecting band on clip earrings.

2.1 Specific Male Cadet Grooming Guidelines.

2.1.1. Men’s Hair. Keep your hair clean, neat, and trimmed. It must not contain large amounts of grooming aids such as greasy creams, oils, and sprays that remain visible in the hair.

2.1.2. Men’s Hair will be tapered appearance on both sides and the back of the head, both with and without headgear. A tapered appearance is one that when viewed from any angle outlines the member’s hair so that it conforms to the shape of the head, curving inward to the natural termination point without eccentric directional flow, twists or spiking. A block-cut is permitted with tapered appearance. Hair will not exceed 1¼ inch in bulk, regardless of length and ¼ inch at natural termination point; allowing only closely cut or shaved hair on the back of the neck to touch the collar. Hair will not touch the ears or protrude under the front band of headgear. Cleanly shaven heads, military high-and-tight or flat-top cuts are authorized. Prohibited examples (not all inclusive) are Mohawk, mullet, cornrows, dreadlocks or etched design. Men are not authorized hair extensions.

2.1.3. Sideburns. If worn, sideburns will be straight and even width (not flared), and will not extend below the bottom of the orifice of the ear opening. Sideburns will end in a clean-shaven horizontal line. See Figure 3.1, orifice of the ear opening is at reference point A.

2.1.4. Mustaches. Male cadets may have mustaches; however they will be conservative (moderate, being within reasonable limits; not excessive or extreme) and will not extend downward beyond the lip line of the upper lip or extend sideways beyond a vertical line drawn upward from both corners of the mouth. See Figure 3.1, reference points B, C, and D.

2.1.5. Beards. Beards are not authorized unless for medical reasons, when authorized by a SASI on the advice of a medical official. SASI will submit waiver request in WINGS for review by HQ AFJROTC Waiver Review board. Members will keep all facial hair trimmed not to exceed ¼ inch in length. Individuals granted a shaving waiver will not shave or trim any facial hair in such a manner as to give a sculptured appearance.

2.1.6. Fingernails. Male cadets are not authorized to wear nail polish.

2.1.7. Earrings. Male cadets in uniform may not wear earrings or any other type of facial piercings.
ATTACHMENT 3

3.1. Awards and Decorations.

3.1.1. Awards and Decorations. The Cadet Awards and Decorations Program fosters morale, esprit-de-corps, and recognizes achievements of AFJROTC cadets. Awards sponsored by national organizations are funded by the sponsoring organization and donated through local chapters where available.
