Harry S Truman High School Academic Honesty Policy

Dear students,

Although you are meeting with your teachers virtually, you are still expected to follow the same code of conduct as you would if you were physically in Truman and physically in front of your teachers.

B31 of the New York City Discipline Code deals specifically with academic dishonesty and outlines possibly serious consequences for plagiarism.

Some examples of academic dishonesty include:

- Plagiarizing -- taking another person's work and using it as your own for credit without the required citation and attribution
 - ❖ Copying information from the internet or other sources and using it as your own.
 - ❖ Failing to cite the sources from which you obtained information.
- Copying information from another classmate's test paper, classwork, or homework.
- Using material during a test which is not allowed by your teacher.
- Substituting for another student or permitting another student to substitute for one's self to take a test or complete an assignment.

If you are finding the work difficult or need further clarification about coursework or have a question, you should reach out to your teachers for assistance. You may face consequences from your teachers or from me if you are found plagiarizing or cheating.

Sincerely,

Keri Alfano
Principal
